America's Top Wealth Advisors 2016:

BY STEVE SCHAEFER

Most great fortunes have their roots in hard work, brilliant business decisions or savvy investing somewhere along the way (more often than not all three). But once the money is made, growing, preserving and passing it on to the next generation becomes paramount. That's where a wealth advisor can come in handy.

The 200 members of Forbes' 2016 list of America's Top Wealth Advisors collectively manage $675 billion, serving clients that range from Silicon Valley billionaires and Wall Street titans to small business owners and family fortunes. (This year's list is powered by our partners at SHOOK Research. For more on what goes into the effort, and the full methodology, see below.)

When it comes to services, there are almost as many different approaches as advisors. Some wealth managers provide a do-it-all concierge service, handling everything from estate planning and taxes to paying bills. Others focus more on investments and getting clients into exclusive opportunities like top-performing hedge funds or pre-IPO startups.

Whatever the approach, each of the 200 advisors on the list have one thing in common: they are trusted to handle the money of wealthy individuals and families, and will do whatever it takes to keep that trust. F

Methodology

The Forbes ranking of America's Top Wealth Advisors, developed by SHOOK Research, is based on an algorithm of qualitative and quantitative data, rating thousands of wealth advisors with a minimum of seven years of experience and weighing factors like revenue trends, assets under management, compliance records, industry experience and best practices learned through telephone and in-person interviews. Portfolio performance is not a criteria due to varying client objectives and lack of audited data. Neither Forbes or SHOOK receive a fee in exchange for rankings.
